

How to use your Kona Tanning Spritzer:

-  Use daily for best results. Or, to use as a sunless tan extender, begin applying 4-5 days after receiving your spray tan to saturate new skin cells with color. Combine with the Gradual Tanner for even easier application.
-  Kona Spritzers apply and blend easily to damp skin. After showering, dab dry, and spray Kona Spritzer directly onto skin, from about six inches away. Blend spray until even using a dry, lint-free cloth, or using circular motions with your hands. Blend from the bottom up – begin on lower legs, and then move on to the tops of feet, upper legs, bum, tummy, back, breasts, shoulders, chest and neck, upper arms, then lower arms. This avoids reaching past already tanned areas and smudging the application.
-  Start with the front of your arms and legs where you naturally tan darker, then blend the excess to the back where you naturally tan lighter.
-  To tan the face, blend two Spritzer sprays into palms, and apply OVER night cream or moisturizer, as you would a serum or lotion. Avoid saturating the hairline and eyebrows. Use a Q-tip to remove any unwanted color from these areas, particularly if you have light or color-treated hair.
-  Let everything fully dry to the touch before dressing, and avoid any water or sweat until the Spritzer has developed, about 8-12 hours.
-  WASH your hands thoroughly after each application to prevent unintended tanning of the palms. Use a cotton pad or makeup sponge to apply to the tops of your hands and blend around the sides, back to wrists for an even application.

TO USE FOR REPAIRS: use a cotton swab or makeup sponge to blend until voids have been filled.
